WOMEN BUILD SOCIAL SETTLEMENT AROUND MISSION SUNDAY SCHOOL

Sloan Mission on South Seventh Street Adds a Day Nursery and Sewing Society-Miss Mattie Wright and Mabel Ely Sacrifice Much Better Positions to Care for Children of Unfortunate Parents-Mrs. Spottswood Anderson and Miss Mabel Ward Contribute Services-Woman's Missionary Society of Southern Methodist Church May Erect a Buil ding.

The Sloan Mission at No. 1202 South Seventh street, which is fast becoming one of the most important branches of the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in year ago lest June by W. M. Sloan, the Woman's Missionary Society of the Southern M. E. Church expects to develop the Sloan Mission, at No. 1202 South Seventh street, into a powerful social settlement.

The work has progressed steadily since the society took hold of it. Renewed interest has been lent to the enterprise within the last month by the securing of a permanent missionary and a superintendent of the day nursery.

The missionary is Miss Mattle Wright and the superintendent of the day nursery Miss Mabel Eby. Both women are experts in the work, and each of them has given up much better positions to engage in it.

Miss Eby is the daughter of a Webster Groves minister, and is a highly educated Groves minister, and is a highly educated woman. After completing the course at a woman's college in this country, she was sent to Germany, of which country her parents are natives. She studied in a university in Dreaden, and afterwards traveled extensively in Europe.

Returning to this country, she became a governess and took up the study of children and their treatment. A month ago a member of the Board of Managers of the Sloan Mission learned that Miss Eby wished to take up work in a mission. The establishment of a day nursery had been frequently discussed, and Miss Eby was asked to take charge of it.

Bhe resigned her position, and a week ago the nursery was established.

UNSELFISH LABOR. UNSELFISH LABOR.

The salary attached to the position is a mere pittance by the side of the one she received while governess, but Miss Eby says the difference in the work makes up for the difference in salary. She lives at the mission-house with Miss Wright, The two are always ready to answer the call of any of their charges.

sion-house with Miss Wright. The two are always ready to answer the call of any of their charges.

The day rursery will accommodate twenty infants. Most mothers living in that part of the city have not learned of it as vat, and the largest number of children cared for on any day so far was eight. Five cents is charged to care for a child one day. Mothers, to place their children in the mission, must first make application, and the parents' home is then visited by Miss Wright, the missionary. Should she find the mother utable to care for her children she so reports to Miss Eby, and the child is than received at the mission.

Miss Wright came to this city from Waco, Tex., where she had charge of city mission work. In April she will be consecrated a deaconness at the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church at Atlanta, Ga. As a deaconness she will devote her entire time to the work of the church.

When the women took hold of the Sloan Mission it was merely a Sunday school. Through their efforts the Reverend Z. T. McCann was assigned to preach there on two Sundays of each month. Interest was awakened, and a month ago the entire building was secured for mission purposes. A free kindergarien is conducted at the mission five mornings of every week. The teacher is Mrs. Spottswood Anderson of No. 2512 Washington avenue. Mrs. Anderson is experienced, having taught for several years. She contributes her services to the mission, gratis.

SEWING SCHOOL

SBWING SCHOOL.

A sewing school for girls is conducted on Saturday morning by Miss Mabel Ward of No. 48il Delmar avenue, the instructor of domestic science at the Eugene Field School. Miss Ward also contributes her services. Girls are taught to make all kinds of garments and instructed in cooking.

The mission as yet has not asked for aid from the Church Board. It has the support of it, however, and has been assured that assistance will be forthcoming when it is requested. It is the plan of the Board of Managers to buy ground and erect a suitable bullding when the needs of the mission demand it.

The president of the Board of Managers is Mrs. G. T. Sprake, who was elected at the annual meeting a month ago. The other members of the board are women from the several Southern Methodist churches of the city.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC. For March S: Lessons From the Sermon on the Mount. (Matt. v, 20-BY AMOS R. WELLS.

God commanded the Jews, at the Passover season: "Purge your houses of leaven.
Let no leaven be found in them." The Jews obeyed very thoroughly. They swept every room. They searched the remotest corner. They lighted candles and peered into dark places. Then they made formal declaration before God: "I have done what I can to remove the leaven: if there be any more in the house, I curse it, and disown it altogether."

Such a search for sin, uncompromising, determined, thorough, solemn, must the Christian make in his own heart; and if any iniquitous tendencies unavoidably remain, he must disown them wholly and forever.

Beliefons must, he a light to the year for concealing, for attack and not for defense.

A writer in the Sunday-School Times shrewdiy links together Rite, Right and Wright. Religion is not a matter of Rite, but of Right-heart-righteousness. Nor merely of Right but Wright; that is, not merely knowing the truth, but doing it, being a wright of it, a worker of it.

"What I want," said Kingsley, "is, not to possess religion, but to have a religion that possesses me." Beecher once declared that many people make religion the cake of life-something to be put away in a cupboard and used only when company comes. But religion must be the bread of life, the thing for which we hunger, the substance of our strength.

thing for which we hunger, the substance of our strength.

The foundation of real religion is to deal honestly with ourselves and with God. An English photographer once hung out a sign: "It is not necessary to be rich to look rich in one of our photographs." He kept a studio full of clothes a la mode, paste jewels and other trappings of folly. He darkened eyebrows and eyes and removed wrinkles by a touch.

Not such is God's photography. God sees not as man sees. Man looks on the outer appearance, but God looks on the heart. Henry van Dyke's famous rhyme is not always true of earth's fame, but it applies to every record of Heaven.

Four things a man must learn to do.

Four things a man must learn to do, if he would make his record true:
To think without confusion clearly:
To love his fellow-men sincerely.
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and heaven securely.
The great reward, is one shows before men only what he really is, is that he always has more and more to show. T. T. Lynch makes a wise remark: "He who persists in genuineness will increase in adequacy. Seem what you are, and you will grow to be what you seem."
And, on the other hand, nothing so belittles a man as the habit of hypocrisy. What actor has been a man of leadership and of power outside of the theater? Wear a mask, and before long—the mask will be empty!

OF BILL TELEPHONE GIRLS.

Must be intelligent, quick and tright.

Age, It to 55. Girls under 17 not regarded as passed that period of grasping new ideas as quickly as women under that age.

Henely girl may make as efficient operator as a handsome one. Looks out no figure.

The voice is one of the most important qualifications. Girl must speak clearly and distinctly and must not speak harshly. Voice must be soft and walst makes best operator. Fleshy girls are usually clumys and interfers with the work of those on either side of them.

Eduquition must be fair, High School girl being as well qualified as one from a college. Girls in the seventh grade of the public school are more desirable than girls from the country, because the latter, it has been found, are more or less irregular, being frequently called away from their work on account of illness at their homes.
